

Congress Gets Ike's Federal Housing Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today gave Congress an eight-point program for revising federal housing laws with the declared aim of providing "good housing in good neighborhoods" for every American.

Eisenhower urged authorization of four more years of public housing, with 140,000 new units to be started. The rate, 35,000 a year, is the one now authorized.

But this program, the President said in a special message to Congress, should be coupled with "a new and experimental" plan to encourage private enterprise to meet the needs of low income families. The government should underwrite longer-term mortgages with lower down payments for families left homeless by slum clearance, he said.

The proposed, stem-to-stern overhaul of the housing program should be based, Eisenhower said, on "full and effective utilization of our competitive economy."

"The federal government must provide aggressive and positive leadership. At the same time actions and programs must be avoided that would make our citizens increasingly dependent upon the federal government to supply their housing needs."

Asks Slum Eradication

Calling for slum eradication and a new-home building level high enough to insure "the economic and social well being of our country," Eisenhower said: "I am convinced that every American family can have a decent home if the builders, lenders and communities and the local state and federal governments, as well as individual citizens will put their abilities and determination energetically to the task."

He called for: Federal loan funds totaling 700 million dollars and money for grants up to 250 million dollars, to be made available to cities to renovate decaying areas and eliminate existing slums.

Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance to help home owners rehabilitate aging houses in declining neighborhoods.

FHA financing for the purchase of old houses as favorable to the buyer as the down-payment and mortgage terms on new houses.

Increasing the FHA loan insurance for repair and modernization from $2,500 to $3,000, and giving home-owners 5 years instead of 3 years to repay.

Reorganizing the government's

Federal National Mortgage Assn., which bolsters housing credit by buying mortgages from banks and other lenders. The President proposed to convert it gradually to private instead of federal control.

Reorganizing the housing agencies to eliminate "cumbersome" and "inefficient" operation.

The President adopted in his message most of the recommendations submitted Dec. 15 by his 23-member Housing Advisory Committee headed by Albert M. Cole, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Less Specific

But the President was less specific than the committee. It, for instance, proposed an "experimental" low-cost home financing plan that would provide for no down payments and a 40-year repayment period instead of the present 25 or 30-year maximum on FHA-insured mortgages.

Eisenhower said Cole will present to Congress further details on the administration's program to "correct various defects" in the country's housing program.

Noting 19 million of the existing city dwellings are more than 30 years old, Eisenhower emphasized the need for preventing "slums and blight."

"Our housing deficiencies continue to be serious," he said. "Mil-

'Discuss Europe First'

Bidault Asks Big 4 Defer Korean Issue

BERLIN (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault proposed to the Big Four today that German and Austrian problems be settled ahead of any discussion of Asian problems.

Bidault's statement was made at the opening session of the Big Four Conference in Berlin called to ease world tensions.

Europe First

At this first such meeting in five years, Bidault said:

"Clearly our meeting should be devoted to European problems. I do not believe that agreements reached on a broad plane will be advisable or even effective. We do not see why the fate of Austria should depend on that of Korea, why there should be established a link between the unification of Germany and a change in the international accords governing Communist China."

This proposal by the French foreign minister served direct notice to Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov that the Western powers were united in their stand against his prodding for a Big Five meeting with Red China sitting in Molotov arrived here Saturday with this proposal.

First Since 1945

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Russia's Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, and France's Georges Bidault began their historic but not too hopeful Berlin sessions in the Allied Control Authority Bldg. in the American sector.

It was Molotov's first visit to West Berlin since the 1945 Potsdam conference. It was Dulles' first major diplomatic mission since he became secretary of state. Dulles and Molotov arrived more than a half hour early to have a preliminary talk on conference arrangements, such as the choice of a chairman. Attention was centered on any meeting of these two principals particularly in view of the impending discussions on world atomic energy control proposed by President Eisenhower and received sympathetically by Moscow.

The whole area was heavily guarded by American MPs and Dulles, Eden and Bidault already had held three preliminary talks here to perfect their joint strategy for dealing with Molotov. American officials were convinced they had achieved a solid front.

The Berlin conference seemed more likely to result in a strengthening of the drive for West European defenses against Soviet power than in solving the problems of German unity, Austrian independence and cold war tensions generally.

Buses Still Idle

Mayor Robinson Issues 'Share the Ride' Appeal

An appeal to Marion drivers to share the ride was issued today by Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

The appeal came as a result of lack of bus service in the city brought on by a walkout of Marion Transit Co. drivers Friday afternoon.

Few developments were reported today on the possibility of restoration of bus service either by the Marion Transit Co. or by some new bus company.

Mayor Robinson said he would call a meeting of all interested parties—company officials, representatives of Local 222, Transit workers of America, city officials or anyone else—anytime they were ready to discuss a solution for the problem.

Mayor Robinson also held forth

Heated Debates Open in Labor Law Revisions

Secret Strike Vote Causes Disputes in Taft-Hartley Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee, torn by dissension between Republican and Democratic members, today summoned Secretary of Labor Mitchell as the first witness in hearings on President Eisenhower's 14 proposed revisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Mitchell was certain to face searching interrogation from Democrats and from Republican Sen. J. William Fulbright, Eisenhower's recommendation that the government conduct a secret poll of employees whenever a labor dispute enters the strike stage.

Seeks Speedy Action

In a speech two weeks ago, Mitchell indicated he wanted Congress to give special study to this proposal. The other 13 points in Eisenhower's program, he said, should speedily be enacted into law.

The committee, headed by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), split wide open last week when Democrats refused to consent to a vote on Eisenhower's nomination of Albert C. Beeson to the National Labor Relations Board, which administers the Taft-Hartley law.

Smith charged his Democratic colleagues with "filibustering" and with attempting to embarrass Eisenhower.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-N.Y.), supported by the other five committee Democrats, countered a angrily there was no such intention. He said Democrats were not yet satisfied that Beeson was qualified for the job.

Succeeds Durkin

Mitchell became secretary of labor last fall, after former Secretary Martin P. Durkin, president of the AFL Plumbers Union, quit in a public dispute with Eisenhower over Taft-Hartley amendments.

Smith introduced a bill in the Senate touching in all 14 points. The measure, calling for a vote after a strike had started, would provide that unless a majority favor continuing the strike, it

No Action Seen Toward Lower Import Tariff

Patrolman Is Hurt in Crash At Mt. Gilead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several key Republican congressmen were reported today to have advised President Eisenhower to expect little or no action by Congress this year to lower tariff barriers against foreign goods.

This was the reported stand of Republicans who have fought traditionally for tariffs high enough to protect American industry from competition at home from cheaper foreign goods.

Tariffs are taxes, imposed on foreign products as they enter the United States, in effect raising their prices here.

Eisenhower received over the weekend a 102-page report from his 17-man Foreign Economic Policy Commission, headed by Clarence B. Randall of Chicago, Inland Steel Co. board chairman.

The report, sprinkled liberally with dissents from various members, especially Republican congressional members, urged that the President be given power to lower tariffs by 5 per cent a year over the next three years.

In addition, the report said, the President should be empowered to reduce any tariff to 50 per cent of the value of the goods imported.

But Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the tariff-handling House Ways and Means Committee, in a blistering dissent, said

Court of Appeals Hears Arguments In Lattimore Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of appeals called for arguments this afternoon on a government move to reinstate four petty charges against Owen Lattimore, controversial Far Eastern specialist.

U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl threw out the four charges last May 2, terming them "nebulous" and "indefinite." And, he said, they violated Lattimore's right to the protection of the Fifth and Sixth amendments to the Constitution.

Judge Youngdahl, while sustaining the remaining three counts of the indictment against Lattimore, expressed "serious doubt" as to their materiality. Only the judge's dismissal of the four charges is before the appeals court for decision.

'Ran Dry of Plots,' Says Somerset Maugham, 80

LONDON (AP)—Author W. Somerset Maugham celebrated his 80th birthday today and declared he had run dry of plots.

"I have writer's cramp," Maugham told an interviewer. "I can't dictate, and I don't type. So I guess there will be no more novels and short stories. Besides, I have exhausted all my themes, and try as I will I can't think of a plot. I'm not as inventive as I used to be."

3 CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—Three children suffocated from smoke of a basement fire in their home yesterday while their parents attended a polo benefit dance. An older brother, Walter Whitley Jr., 14, left in charge of the others, escaped by jumping from the window of his second floor bedroom.

Auto Leaves Route 4, Hits Quarry Fence

Mrs. Oscar Ridenour, And East Liverpool Resident Are Victims

A Marion woman, Mrs. Oscar Ridenour, 44, and an East Liverpool youth were killed almost instantly Sunday night when they were pinned beneath a car in a one-vehicle accident just north of Marion.

The deceased youth was Paul Emerson Lockhart, 20, who was riding in the car owned and apparently driven by Mrs. Ridenour. They were the vehicle's only passengers.

They were the second and third fatalities in Marion County this year.

Husband Also Killed

Mrs. Ridenour, who resided at 450 E. Mark St., was the widow of Oscar Ridenour who was killed in an accident at the Universal Cooler plant about a year ago.

Last night's mishap occurred at 10 o'clock on Route 4 near Crystal Lake Park about one mile north of the city limits.

According to the Marion post of the state highway patrol, the car was heading south on a straight stretch of highway when it went off the road on the left side.

The two riders were thrown from the car and pinned beneath it when it rolled over on its right side.

Auto Littered by Wrecker

Harold Fremont, owner of the Scio Trail garage near the scene of the accident, removed the car from the bodies with his wrecker. Although both appeared dead, they were taken by ambulance to the Marion City Hospital. They were pronounced dead on arrival there.

Mrs. Ridenour suffered a fractured skull, crushed chest and multiple fractures of the body. Lockhart received a crushed chest and other internal and body injuries.

The car, a 1950 sedan, was moderately damaged on the front end and right side.

Fence Torn Up

While turning over the car tore up about 150 feet of fence, owned by J. M. Hamilton and Sons Stone Co.

It is not known what Lockhart was doing in the vicinity of Marion at the time of the accident. He had been last seen by a brother in East Liverpool at noon Sunday.

Helen Arzata Ridenour was born

Bricker Stands Fast

Efforts To Avert Senate Fight on Treaty Issue Fail

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower may give congressional leaders a go-ahead signal today for efforts to rewrite in the Senate the Bricker proposal to curb treaty powers.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said in advance of a White House conference he expects to announce later the course to be followed by the leadership on the controversial measure now technically before the Senate for debate.

It was obvious, however, that the failure of Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, head of the GOP Policy Committee, to agree with Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) on the terms of a compromise at a meeting yesterday left GOP leaders only the alternative of fighting the issue out before the Senate.

Ferguson said he had not given

THEY'RE SAFE. Novelist Ernest Hemingway and his wife, the former Mary Welsh of Chicago, are safe after two minor plane accidents in eastern Africa. For a time it was feared they were dead. Hemingway is the author of the 1953 Pulitzer Prize novel, "The Old Man and the Sea."

Survive Jungle Crackups

Hemingway, Wife Safe After Crashes

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Novelist Ernest Hemingway and his fourth wife were safe and unhurt today after two plane crackups here in the big game wilds of central East Africa.

The couple's chartered sightseeing plane was damaged Saturday when they landed alongside the Upper Nile to take pictures. Later a rescue plane cracked up as it tried to take off with them. Both times nobody was hurt.

Today the Hemingways were headed by road for Entebbe, at the head of Uganda's Lake Victoria.

Take 600-Mile Flight

The American couple, with pilot Roy Marsh, left Nairobi, capital of the British colony of Kenya, Saturday for a 600-mile flight to the 400-foot Murchison Falls of Uganda.

As Marsh landed the small Cessna plane for Hemingway to take pictures near the falls, the undercarriage was damaged and the party could not take off. The plane had no radio, and when it failed to return, East African Airways launched a search.

The Cessna was spotted yesterday by Capt. R. C. Jude, piloting a British Overseas Airways airliner. He said it was about 300 yards from the Victoria Nile River, three miles below the falls, and in the middle of scrub trees and thick bush. He said that he saw no signs of life but that the aircraft didn't appear badly damaged.

Hail Passing Launch

The Hemingways and Marsh, meanwhile, had hailed a passing launch taking tourists to the falls. It brought them to Butiaba, 40 miles south on Lake Albert, where a rescue plane landed to take them to Entebbe.

The rescue plane was damaged taking off and failed to become airborne. One report—unconfirmed—said it burned. Again nobody was hurt.

The author and his wife then took to the road for the 185-mile trip southeast to Entebbe.

Hemingway and his present wife were married in 1946. She was Mary Welsh, well-known magazine correspondent. His first three marriages ended in divorce.

The novelist and his wife live most of the time outside Havana, Cuba, but are now on a five-month journey through East Africa. His most recent published writing, in the current issue of Look magazine, tells of the first five weeks of the party's safari by truck, hunting car, jeep and on foot.

Speeder 'Just Trying To Get Out of the Way'

A Toledo motorist who admitted trying to outrun a Marion police car was fined $25 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for six months when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court this morning to charges of speeding and resisting arrest.

Police said Jack Harwood, 23, told them he heard their siren and saw the flashing red light atop the cruiser but just thought "I'd get out of the way."

Doing this he drove at speeds upward of 80 miles an hour between Marion and Upper Sandusky, according to testimony in court this morning, Judge W. Dexter Hazen said.

Police Chief Tom Coon said city police succeeded in stopping Harwood only by calling ahead to the Wyandot County sheriff's department which dispatched a cruiser to meet Harwood just south of Upper Sandusky.

Two Michigan Boys Buried by Snow Slide

NEGAUNEE, Mich. (AP)—Two 12-year-old boys were killed and a third narrowly escaped death yesterday when a snow slide buried them in an abandoned mine pit in Negaunee.

Tommy Leklin, and Ernest Salo, both of Negaunee, and two companions were searching the mine area for a wallet lost by the Leklin youth Saturday.

The two, who lost their lives, and Sigfrid Parkkonen, 12, of Negaunee, were buried in 10 to 15 feet of snow.

The fourth companion, Jerry Koski, 13, escaped the avalanche and notified police who managed to uncover the Parkkonen boy in time to save his life.

Conference Fails To Reach Agreement

Ohio's New Truck Tax Remains Issue

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio failed Saturday to iron out Ohio's differences with other states over Ohio's new "axle-mile" tax on trucks, but Lausche believes this meeting with other governors accomplished some good.

Lausche failed to persuade the Executive Committee of the National Governors' Conference to intervene.

The committee refused to call on a bloc of 10 Southern states to delay cancellation of "reciprocity agreements" with Ohio until the whole "axle-mile" tax problem can be considered by the National Governors' Conference.

As it stands the Southern bloc still plans to cancel its agreements with Ohio by March 1.

However, Lausche did get the governors' committee to decide the whole problem should be considered by the conference before its next annual meeting.

Executive Secretary Frank Bane said a special spring session might be called.

This is the problem:

Ohio has "reciprocity agreements" with other states by which they agree not to tax each other's trucks. These agreements covered license tags and fees.

In 1953, Ohio adopted the "axle-mile" tax, which is a special tax on trucks—varying from 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents a mile on trucks with more than two axles.

Ohio says out-of-state trucks must pay this tax for the distances they travel in Ohio.

The other states—notably the Southern bloc—say if Ohio doesn't exempt their trucks from the axle-mile tax, they'll cancel the "reciprocity agreements." Kentucky and Tennessee have already revoked their "reciprocity agreements" with Ohio.

Eight states have already retaliated against Ohio—including Georgia's $10-per-round-trip tax on each Ohio truck moving through Georgia. Truckers claim Ohio's tax will average $10 a trip.

In addition, Ohio's tax has state truckers.

caused the trucking industry to seek a court injunction against its collection. The industry, in a statement issued here Saturday, said it favored the principle of a weight-distance tax, but only if it were uniform throughout the country, so that the "free flow" of commerce wouldn't be impeded.

Also, the tax has brought on a threat of a strike by AFL truck drivers. Union drivers who own their own trucks refuse to pay the tax, claiming it should be paid by the firms which lease their equipment. The trucking firms refuse to pay it on leased trucks.

Said Lausche: "My conviction is firm that the position of Ohio will be recognized as right in the course of time when other states find that the weight-distance tax is the genuine method of making the large-carrying trucks pay their fair share of the cost of building and maintaining roads—and that the responsibility to pay the tax must fall equally upon out-of-state and in-state truckers."

Marilyn Reported Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Newlywed Marilyn Monroe is reported back in town by her studio and the same source says her husband, Joe DiMaggio, is in New York for a TV show.

The studio spokesman said he did not know where the famous couple spent their honeymoon or when she returned to Hollywood. Although the studio suspended Marilyn when she left a few weeks ago, it relented after she married DiMaggio and extended a deadline from Jan. 20 to today for her to start on a film in which she has the leading role.

Last Cleveland Trolleys Taken Out of Service

CLEVELAND (AP)—The last of 1,500 street cars that once banged and clanged through Cleveland ground its way into limbo yesterday, ending a 93-year history.

And as the last such car in Ohio started the final trip to the scrap heap, transit officials were somewhat startled. For the first time since horse cars started on Cleveland's Kinsman road in 1860, the customers did not fume when they had to wait for a ride.

By way of celebration, officials had announced they would run free cars on Madison avenue until 3:15 p.m., but they had to continue the cars 2 hours and 10 minutes longer to rid Public Square of the patient, serpentine lines of customers, many of whom waited an hour and a half.

Officials, who thought that was a long time to wait for a last chance to inhale peculiar smells and brace against always unfamiliar jolts, estimated 10,000 turned up.

Among the crowd were trolley fans from as far away as Chicago and Maryland.

Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, who filled in as a motorman on one of the last trips, hailed progress in a short talk, but pointed out he was sort of sad about the whole thing, too. He recalled stealing free rides on rear bumpers when he was a newsboy.

The last 26 cars, which will now be cut into scrap, were built in 1929, just about the time street cars reached the peak of their popularity.

Congress Highlights

Ike's Housing Plans May Signal Boom

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a bulky special message to Congress, spells out a plan for "major changes" in the nation's housing program.

Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole predicts that if legislators okay the Eisenhower package, new home building will be humming at more than a million starts a year.

Labor—Eisenhower's earlier message asking 14 changes in the Taft-Hartley law gets its first public scrutiny at the hands of the Senate Labor Committee. A big issue: the request for government conduct of strike votes.

Taxes—Democrats threaten a fight on the House floor to lower personal income taxes, charging administration-backed tax changes voted by the House Ways and Means Committee are loaded in favor of businesses and stockholders. Republicans counter that their revisions will mean better jobs and higher living standards for everyone.

Treaty powers—The Senate takes up a mutual security treaty with South Korea and a big batch of nominations, but all eyes fasten on the great debate scheduled next: over a proposed constitutional amendment to curb treaty powers. Last-minute attempts at compromise between Eisenhower and Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), the amendment's author, bog down.

Tariffs—An ill wind blows for tariff-lowering proposals advanced by the President's Foreign Economic Policy Commission. Commission members Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) file stiff dissents. The two legislators head the tariff-handling committees in house and senate.

Noted Persons Taken by Death

CHICAGO—Harold H. Nelson, 75, noted Egyptologist, organizer and for 22 years field director of the University of Chicago's epigraphic and architectural survey in Luxor, Egypt. Born in New Orleans.

Veterans, Born in Boston.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Ben Hur Lampman, 67, author, associate editor of the Oregonian, poet laureate of Oregon. Born in Barron, Wis.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—Horace H. Raymond, 56, inventor and research engineer credited with inventing "magic eye" door opener.

Colorado Legislator Believes in Economy

DENVER (AP)—A state legislator in Colorado has gone all out to help economize on state expenses.

State Controller James A. Noonan said one lawmaker who filed an expense account for the trip to the State Capitol asked for mileage, but included nothing for meal instead he added a note on the voucher.

It said: "Carried my lunch."

Virginia's 9th District Opens Congress Race

First '54 Candidate To Be Chosen in Fight For Congress' Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats of Virginia's 9th District will pick the first congressional candidate of the 1954 election year in a convention at Bristol next Saturday.

The opposition party thus will get the jump on the party in power in what promises to be a long and hard-fought campaign for control of Congress, now almost evenly divided.

Outside the 9th District in Virginia, and state and congressional office nominees from Connecticut and Delaware—and possibly a few Republican selections scattered over the Southern states—all nominations this year will be by primary.

Primaries start as early as April 13 in Illinois and wind up Sept. 20 in Rhode Island.

In the Nov. 2 election there will be at stake 35 U. S. Senate seats in 34 states (New Hampshire elects two); 435 U. S. House memberships, and 34 governorships.

The present Senate lineup is: Republicans 47, Democrats 48, independent (Morse) 1. The House: Republicans 219, Democrats 215, independent (reams) 1. Governors: Republicans 29, Democrats 19.

Of the 35 Senate races coming up, 22 will be for seats now held by Democrats, including 10 in the South, and 13 for Republican places. The contests are for the constitutional one third of the Senate held every two years, plus three for the remaining two years of terms of the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), the late Sen. Tobey (R-NH), and the seat Richard Nixon vacated in California to become vice president.

Virginia Democratic leaders say the early convention in Bristol next Saturday indicates 9th District Democrats are anxious to get this seat back in their control. It was lost to the Republicans in the Eisenhower sweep in 1952, along with two other districts in the Old Dominion and one in North Carolina.

The 9th is normally a close district. Republican William C. Wampler won over Democrat M. M. Long 35,047 to 32,735 in 1952 when the then incumbent representative, Democrat Thomas B. Fugate, declined to seek another term.

Lemon Pie Is Good With Corn Flake Crust

For a pie that's a little different and exceptionally good, use a corn flake crust with lemon filling.

You'll find the variation in the crust will add interest in preparation as well as in flavor.

Use:
1 1/4 cups sugar
6 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 9-inch corn flake crust

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add milk gradually and cook over direct heat until thick and clear, about 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks and cook over low heat 6 minutes longer, continuing to stir. Remove from heat; add lemon juice, grated peel and butter. Allow to cool. Pour into prepared 9-inch corn flake crust. Top with Meringue and bake.

Corn Flake Crust
1 1/4 cups finely crushed corn flakes
2 tablespoons sugar
One-third cup melted butter or margarine
Pinch of salt

Thoroughly mix corn flakes, sugar, melted margarine and salt. Press evenly and firmly on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan.

Meringue

3 egg whites
1 teaspoon lemon juice
6 tablespoons sugar
Beat egg whites and lemon juice until they hold in soft peaks. Add sugar gradually, beating until whites are glossy and stand in firm peaks. Spread meringue on the filling and make swirls with the back of spoon, sealing to the edge of the crust, making 6 or 8 swirls. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 7 to 10 minutes until meringue is golden brown. Cool. Serve.

FBI Adds New Name To 'Most Wanted' List

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI today added to its list of 10 most wanted men the name of 30-year-old Everett Lowell Krueger, alias Ed King, whose criminal exploits have plagued police in a half dozen Western states since he was 14 years old.

Krueger is described by the FBI as "an inveterate criminal." Krueger has served time for various offenses in state and federal institutions in Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, California and Oklahoma.

Ives Seen Dewey's Choice To Succeed Him as Governor

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Dewey has dropped broad hint to Republican leaders that his choice for a successor is Sen. Irving M. Ives—if Dewey himself decides not to run for governor again.

The hint came yesterday through Dewey's press secretary, Harry J. O'Donnell, who announced Ives would be present Feb. 1 at the first of a series of meetings with GOP county chairman and vice chairmen.

Presumably, a spokesman for Dewey said, the senator and Rep. Dean P. Taylor of Troy, the Republican state chairman, will attend all eight of a series of luncheons planned over a span of several weeks.

Ives, who has spent little time upstate since his 1953 senatorial campaign, thus would be leaving Washington eight times during the press of a busy congressional session.

Handicapped Man Runs Business by Telephone

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—A complicated little device with which he can click the telephone on and off with his tongue has opened the door of a new life for Douglas V. Vowles, a paralyzed Salt Lake City man.

The mechanism, engineered and produced by Chester Haddon of Gaines Orthopedic Appliances in Denver, makes it possible for Vowles to operate a phone solicitation service.

Stricken with a creeping paralysis 10 years ago, he became bed-ridden seven years ago. He is paralyzed from the neck down.

He has only to touch a plastic lever with the tip of his tongue to automatically dial the operator who in turn dials the number for him. In case he doesn't know the number, the operator can switch him to "information" after which he reports the number to the dialing operator.

Your Income Tax Return

Everyone Earning $600 or More Must File

WASHINGTON (AP)—You must file an income tax return on or before March 15 if you made as much as $600 in 1953.

First of a Series

You must report your income even if legal deductions are large enough to relieve you of paying any tax. You may even get money back after filing a return. Most employers deduct taxes from pay. It's the law. Many taxpayers find that such deductions are larger than the amount they owe.

The earlier you get your return in, the sooner you will get any refund that may be due. Things also will be speeded up if you print "refund" on the envelope in which you turn in such a return. It will get priority treatment.

Age makes no difference. If you made as much as $600 you must file a return.

The tax law and the forms are the same as last year, but there have been some new rulings, some of which could save you money.

YOU MAY HAVE heard of the reduction in income tax that went into effect Jan. 1, 1954. It averages about 10 per cent for most people. But that has nothing to do with year 1953 return, due March 15.

If tax deductions are being made from your pay, they may now be a little smaller than they were last year, but that will appear on the return you file March 15, 1954.

There are two things some people forget in filing a return:

1. You must sign it. And if it is a joint return, so must your wife or husband, even if only one of you had income.

2. You must attach any Forms W-2 you may have earned. Those are the little slips from employers showing how much you earned and what the deductions were. If you worked for more than one employer in 1953 you may have several of these. Attach all of them.

FAILURE TO DO either of these things means that you have not legally filed a return.

A joint return nearly always results in a lower tax for a husband and wife. In using it you split the income and figure each half at a lower level. You can split the income even if only one of you earned anything.

You can get help from the Internal Revenue Service. First, there is an instruction pamphlet mailed to you with your tax form.

Second, you can get a booklet "Your Federal Income Tax," for 25 cents from the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. It was written by Revenue Service people, is authoritative, complete and well indexed. It covers the problems of most taxpayers. Third, you can talk to tax officials.

Your bank or post office can tell you where the tax officials can be found. They are there to help you, not to squeeze out more taxes.

Heavy Snow Hits Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Winter smacked Utah with a storm last night that piled wet snow up to 16 inches in one area, closed two major north Utah highways and made others slick and dangerous.

SCHOOLS CLOSE, NO WATER

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Schools in the nearby village of South Zanesville will remain open only half a day as long as the current water shortage lasts. Officials of the town of 1,500 persons last night asked housewives to forego their Monday clothes washing. South Zanesville normally consumes 100,000 gallons of water a day and its water tanks no contain only 15,000 gallons. A state geologist is expected Wednesday to help map relief plans.

In most cases they can answer questions by telephone.

(Next: What form should you use?)

Self-Employed? You Must File Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Did you work for yourself in 1953? You follow the same rules as employees, but you probably have a special social security payment to make.

An employee pays 1½ per cent on the first $3,600 he earns. His employer pays another 1½ per cent. But if you were your own employer, you pay only half the employer's share plus the employee's share. That totals 2½ per cent of the first $3,600 income. You must pay if you had income of $400 or more.

But there are exceptions. Among those who do not make such payments are: farmers, railroad workers, public officials, lawyers, doctors, dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, optometrists, funeral directors, profession engineers, clergymen and public accountants.

What if you worked for yourself part time and for others part time? If your employer made social security deductions from $3,600 income, that takes care of your social security. If such earnings were less than $3,600 you pay 2½ per cent on anything up to $3,600 not covered by your income from which social security tax was deducted.

REV. MEL MARTIN
Will Lead Radnor Meetings

Rev. Mel Martin To Conduct Church Services in Radnor

In a return visit to this vicinity in February, Rev. Mel Martin, former radio and television personality, will be at the Radnor Baptist Church for a week of nightly meetings. This Crusade for Christ effort will be Feb. 1-7, each night at 7:45.

The young minister resigned the position in television with WLW last April to devote his time to preaching after attending a meeting held by Rev. Billy Graham at Cincinnati. Accompanied by Mrs. Martin, he came to Marion for a crusade in November, sponsored by Trinity and Fite Memorial Baptist Churches. In charge of the Radnor services will be the Baptist Church pastor, Rev. Thomas Gibbons.

Since April last year, Rev. Martin has conducted revivals in Louisville, Ky., Miami, Fla., Moberly, Mo., London, Ky., Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Pa., and other large cities.

Born in Atlanta, Ga., while his father was pastor at the Baptist Tabernacle, he was at the age of six appearing on the evangelistic platform with his parents singing and making short speeches. Both he and his wife attended school in Chicago and in Philadelphia, and he attended college at Wheaton College in Illinois. His work on radio and television included his "Straw Hat Matinee" on NBC network in the summer of 1951, and "Breakfast Party" in 1952. In addition, he and his wife produced and starred in a Sunday morning devotional television program, "Memory Lane."

Problem for Republicans

Remember the "me-too" Republicans who tried to capitalize on the popularity of New Deal and Fair Deal ideas while continuing to be Republicans? They're with us again in new circumstances.

They're the "I-also" Republicans who now are found with the Democratic opponents of the Eisenhower administration — the congressmen who are identified with the majority yet are likely to be found voting with the minority.

This is a congressional election year. Voters will be deciding political futures on the basis of political pasts next November. It is interesting to remember what frequently happened to "me-too" Republicans.

Voters asked to choose between a "me-too" candidate and the real thing frequently chose the real thing. It finally became Republican doctrine that "me-tooism" was the curse of the party.

It is no secret that many Republicans think the Eisenhower administration has been veering toward "me-tooism" since last January, though it was elected in 1952 on a forthright platform of opposition to New Dealism and Fair Dealism.

This is the source of the problem created by the "I-also" Republicans who are opposing the Eisenhower administration. They are trying to keep it in direct opposition to all New Deal and Fair Deal ideas. They regard themselves as the trustees of traditional Republicanism.

Yet, as they go into a congressional election year they will be asking voters in many cases to choose between them and the candidates of the official opposition.

If voters tend to choose the real thing, Republican congressional candidates again will pay the penalty for a mixup in the two-party system which has given the right wings of both parties more in common with each other than they have with the membership of the rest of their parties.

Seaway Isn't Canada's Fight

An after-thought on the Senate's vote this week to let the United States help Canada finish the St. Lawrence seaway is that Canada has nothing to gain and everything to lose if the House agrees with the Senate.

As a joint undertaking, the work remaining to be done in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence, where the river borders on New York, could be stalled and obstructed still further by the same pressure blocs that have fought the seaway for half a century.

For the last week, spokesmen for these blocs have been loading up the Congressional Record again with their stale arguments against the seaway. They have given every conceivable reason for being against it except the real reasons — that they are spokesmen for railroads, seaports, coal fields and electrical-energy producers which don't want ocean shipping to come into the Great Lakes.

These interests have a right to fight. Each of them has been opposed by some other vested interest. But there is nothing pretty about the way they have fought the seaway and certainly nothing pretty about the hogwash with which they have tried to conceal their reasons for fighting it. It must be conceded they have fought long and well and aren't licked yet.

It is that prospect which must be making Canada wish the House of Representatives would vote against any participating in a project Canada now would prefer to build and operate independently of pressure politics in the United States.

The United States then could work out on its own terms the problems of handling St. Lawrence seaway shipping after it entered United States responsibility.

New Rule for Prisoners

Now that it's settled, the prisoner issue which tied knots in the negotiations at Panmunjom for almost a year and a half can be appraised in the light of what came out of it.

A new rule for the handling of prisoners of war was tentatively established. The United Nations wanted to prove that Asians who did not want to fight for the Communists could go over to the other side without fear of being sent back when the war was over. They proved this after a fashion.

It may be helpful in the event of further warfare.

The Communists, knowing what the United Nations wanted to prove, also tried to prove something. Hence the handful of Americans who were "converted" to Communism. These pathetic casualties of the Korean war were supposed to prove that Communism was attractive to westerners.

Even more pathetic than the few men who said they preferred Communism are the United Nations soldiers, including upward of 800 Americans, who apparently were held back in the prisoner exchange, perhaps as trading stock for future concessions.

They prove what needs no proving — that in Korea the enemy was guided by the same ruthlessness and lack of respect for human life and honor which have given the Communist conspiracy a madman's advantage in its struggle for power in all other places.

Foreign Economic Policy

By James Marlow

Eisenhower's Commission Fails To Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—The idea of a commission to study the foreign economic policy of the United States, which was proposed by President Eisenhower in 1953, has failed to agree on a recommendation.

So President Eisenhower in 1953 appointed one commission after another to examine the problems on which he would have to make recommendations to Congress in 1954.

The ideal result for Eisenhower would be something like this: Each commission would be composed of men who started out with a full range of different views but, after uncovering the realities in months of investigation, would turn in a unanimous report.

IT WOULD BE truly ideal if such a commission contained, beside private citizens, Democratic and Republican members of Congress who would up in harmony and unanimity. This would practically smother opposition in Congress when Eisenhower finally sent it his recommendations.

Unfortunately for Eisenhower, commissions don't always produce that ideal result. That was demonstrated when the 17-man commission on foreign economic policy gave him a report shot through with deep disagreement.

This commission had two main fields of study: foreign aid and trade.

In 1930, over the protest of more than 1,000 economists, former President Hoover signed into law the Hawley-Smoot bill passed by a Republican-controlled Congress and setting record high tariffs against foreign imports.

WITHIN TWO YEARS 25 countries had established retaliatory tariffs. By that time the depression, which had started in 1929, was in full swing.

When the Democrats came in Secretary of State Cordell Hull was able to persuade the Democratic Congress, in the hope of reviving world trade, to pass the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act of 1934.

This allowed the President to cut tariffs on a country's goods provided such a country returned the favor by lowering tariffs on American goods.

The problem then—still a problem, since the Reciprocal Trade Act still stands—was to encourage trade by tariff cutting without letting in goods that would do damage, or much damage, to American industry.

But before this country was well out of the depression, the war came, and with it American lend-lease, which put trade on the shelf. When trade resumed after the war, this country moved to help foreign countries with loans or outright grants to get their economies going and at the same time provide them with dollars to buy American goods.

SINCE 1949 American economic aid, steadily overshadowed by military aid, has been decreasing. Some members of Congress want it ended altogether. And last year Eisenhower faced the question: should the Reciprocal Trade Act, scheduled to die in 1953 unless Congress renewed it, be kept alive to stimulate international business? Some of the Republicans wanted it ended.

Eisenhower induced Congress to renew it for one more year at least, while he got the study commission started. Two commission members were heads of the congressional committees handling tariff questions, and both Republicans: Sen. Millikin of Colorado and Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York.

Millikin is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Reed is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Both Reed and Millikin were in strong dissent on much of the commission's report, which, among other things, suggested keeping the Reciprocal Trade Act three more years and lowering many tariffs.

So now, after six months of work by the commission, the whole problem of aid and trade will be examined again in Congress, no matter what Eisenhower recommends, with Millikin and Reed leading the examining.

The Voodoo Era

By TRUMAN TWILL

Halfway through the 20th century the era of counter-voodoo was booming along like an undercurrent sale of youth restorer at a small-town carnival.

Amulets to ward off evil were for sale on every side. The air was filled with the incantations of electronic pitchmen who knew how to offset the biggest medicine the sorcerers ever made.

All that was required, according to the pitchmen, was a drop of B-17 in your hair oil, or a teaspoonful of a secret additive in your crank case oil and you would be covered with adulation and trouble-free miles. Phooey on the bad old witch.

A pinch of something colored in your toothpaste, a sprinkling of something made from an old family formula in your skin cream and a drop or two of K-9 in your shaving soap—and you could ride her broom to fame and fortune.

Nothing could be taken at face value; there had to be a touch of counter-voodoo in everything. Breakfast food couldn't be plain oats, corn and wheat but had to be doctored with secret compounds to ward off evil and build good will and monetary success while you slept.

Even mouth wash, which some might consider the last word in insipidity, was fortified with mysterious compounds practically guaranteed to scare away all the bugaboos of unpopularity, bashfulness and the ugly fact that some people are not destined to be loved to pieces even if they smell good.

The staff of life itself had been mumbo-jumboed by the brewers of big medicine to make its consumers healthier, wealthier and wiser. So had the stuff which was designed to be spread on bread. It too was full of mysterious powers in addition to its value as a lubricant.

In addition to all the curse-dispellers in the public domain and available for cold cash on demand, there were dozens of restricted preparations composed of kitchen-fresh essence of witches' brew and available only by special incantations and ceremonial crossings of palms with silver.

It was truly a bad time for the sorcerers who once could boast of their power to strike a horse dead in its stall, drive the power of reason from beautiful babes, make young men grow old before their time and cross the eyes of babes in swaddling clothes.

In the mid-20th century it was easily possible to undo all such voodooism with commercial dosages of new eyes, bat wings and the pulverized thumbs of mariners lost at sea. Or you bought something ostensibly innocent with built-in curative powers.

These various wolf banes sold like hot cakes. They packed a punch. Finally everything had been added to everything, except sedatives to strong drink. The first round of counter-sorcery was finished.

It was time for the second round, when the good fairies and benefactors of mankind would begin to add additives to the additives. This had begun early in the second half of the century. The forces of light launched a fresh assault on the forces of darkness in the form of double voodoo, also known as the old twisteroo.

If you had used an excess of X to keep from being hurt by Y so that X, itself, was bad medicine, you then added A to X and thereby got protection not only from Y but also B. It was very confusing to everybody but the sorcerers and the counter-sorcerers and for them it was more fun than a bank with swinging doors.

Inca Highway Matches Best Roman Road

By Victor Von Hagen

WE HAVE FOUND, identified and followed for many many miles one of the great Inca military roads, a highway built especially for the conquest in the 15th century of Upper Amazonia.

Alluded to by the early conquistadores, yet vaguely described, this road begins in Jauija the geographical center of mountainous Peru and continues northward 350 miles until it reaches Chachapoyas, six degrees south of the Equator.

The Inca empire, like all empires grew at the expense of its neighbors; and they had long laid covetous eyes on the fertile warm lands of the Chachapoyas which lies in the semi-tropical part of Peru at the gateway to the Amazon Valley. The Incas made first an unorganized attack on them, but the Chachapoyas fought "with such fury" writes a Spanish chronicler "that the Incas fled before them."

They did not repeat that error. Using Jauija, a great Inca center as its base of operations, the Topa Inca, 10th ruler of the realm, put his vast reserve of manpower into building his impressive road. He lined it with rest stations, depots and garrisons for its 350 miles and then in 1450 flung 30,000 Indian warriors directly down that road.

ANTICIPATING the expression, "Getting that fustest with the mostest," they overwhelmed the enemy and more than 100,000 square miles of Amazonia fell into the devouring maw of the Inca.

This was the road which we found and identified. It would seem, with all that has been written about them in times past, that it would be relatively easy to locate these Inca roads. It is not. Centuries of gathering detritus covers them, the stones have been removed, Idnaisn have plowed the fields where the road once ran, modern highways have been built upon them, villages bearing the same historical names have moved far from the original site; time and man have worked havoc. Since the Inca roads were constructed primarily for the man and the camel-like llama, the only thing we could do now without vehicles was get relatively near them, the rest was by foot or horse. The time that we have lost following up blind leads is more than half of the time we have spent on the roads themselves. Yet we cannot disregard "inside information" we have to follow up every clue.

In association with the American geographical society, Victor Von Hagen, one of the world's leading experts on South American history and exploration, is directing an intensive, two-year study of a forgotten world — the 2,000-mile highway system of the ancient Incas. In this article he reports on the expedition's progress.

BY THE TIME we arrived in Jauija we were weary of chasing lost horizons, so we did not immediately follow up the information from a well-meaning Indian "that not far from here is a stone road 45 feet wide." We regarded this as fantastic, we had not seen a road so wide in all Peru.

Jauija itself is full of ruins. They studied the eroded limestone hills and look like the embattlements of medieval castles. It had been the capital of a pre-Inca culture, the Huancas, and then it had been a great Inca military center. There were ruins of sun temples, houses of the nobles, military garrisons and hundreds of circular stone storage-chambers for food and arms. Jauija is older than Lima. Here, Pizarro, the Conqueror, with "some very noble lords" founded the capital. It was later abandoned for more golden fields.

Our trail led to Jauija. We had followed the Inca Road more or less continuously for hundreds of miles. Here we reached a cul de sac. The road was erased and we spent many fruitless days riding over the bald mountains, questioning all sorts of people.

WE FOUND that road, many days later. And it came as a great surprise for it showed how really advanced was the engineering of the Incas. The great road (it was 15 paces wide) split off from "The Royal Road" and moved directly north. We followed this road for days on horseback. It accommodated itself to the natural sinuosities of the land, it went up mountains in easy grade and where it could not caracole around a steep peak, the Inca workmen had cut steps into the rock. Straightness, usually is a secondary consideration in primitive road construction, but not for the Incas.

At Inca-Katuna (the Incas' seat), at 14,000 feet, the road was visible for miles; it was the best preserved section of Andean road we had seen. We decided to excavate it, lay it bare to study its construction. This meant getting Indian laborers up to these frigid heights, setting up camp on a veritable moonscape and many other aggravating details which elsewhere might be nothing, but here really mountainous.

WITHIN A FEW days a good stretch of the road was cleaned and where possible restored. It was exactly 45-feet wide and held by a small running stone wall running along its sides. Steps 18 feet apart were placed by the Inca's engineers to aid in ascending the long slope and to prevent erosion. And as water is the destroyer, road culverts were carefully constructed to drain it off.

While the work continued we set off to find how much of this military road was still visible. At times it paralleled the modern highway, and so we bounced off the highway and traveled with the power wagon, over the old road for mile upon mile.

Like the Romans the Incas knew that it is maintenance that makes the road. The ancient Peruvians kept up theirs by means of a work-service called mitia; each community through which the road passed was compelled to keep up its section of the road, repair the bridges and maintain the tampos (post-houses).

WHY DID the Incas, who were without vehicles, need so great a road? Why did they maintain over 10,000 miles of road? Conquest. All land armies must have roads and all roads of any length, the world over, have been royal roads of empire.

With the advent of the Incas, battles became no longer a series of elaborate performances to overawe; Incas went out to win. By 1450, under their great Inca, Pachacuti, the Incas were at the height of their expansion.

The Chachapoyas tribe sitting at the jungle edge, commanded the entrance to that part of the Amazon; their land was fertile, their women beautiful.

The Incas built this road, on the right side of the Marañon River (one of the highest tributaries of the Amazon), just for this conquest.

They kept it going straight to Chachapoyas, 350 miles through mountains and jungles, to 6 degrees south of the Equator.

They built near to that area a fortress called Kuelap — which was concealed in the jungle until 1840 — and when all was in readiness, engulfed the enemy in a sharp bloody conflict.

Target Practice

By BILL VAUGHAN

Another good problem facing the administration is how to make the post office pay its own way without paying its own way out of office.

An eminent New York doctor gives 10 rules for better health in 1954. The first one is "don't worry the other nine are things to worry about."

The ailing hippopotamus in the Kansas City zoo outwits the hypodermic needle by sitting down, which just proves that veterinarians give up easier than M.D.s.

Various rewards are showered upon the enterprising Alabama player who ran from the bench to make a tackle in the cotton bowl game. The rules committee may be forced to penalize this offense by banning all TV appearances by the perpetrator.

In 1953 man flew faster, climbed higher and dived deeper than ever before, a great record of accomplishment but a little weak for most of us to use as an excuse for oversleeping this year.

The world moves so fast that by the time we read about a new book that answers Dr. Kinsey we've forgotten what it was he said.

Wrap-around windshields and transparent roofs on the new-model cars will enable American motorists to get an even closer idea of that Austrian's sensations while spending a year in a bottle.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A Week Worth a Cheer

Last week was Printing Week and if you didn't have time to cheer for the printer, the printing press and the linotype machine, you've been a poor judge of top performances. There's no business like "Hoe" business. . . . Whether you're ordering a quick lunch, looking up a train, getting the racing entries, estimating the weather changes or seeking the latest tidings on a world-shaking event, the printer and the printing press are in your corner.

A linotype machine is a counselor, a traffic light, a range finder, an information bureau, an interpreter and a guide to your next important move. . . . A printer is an entertainer and the head pilot of the Flying Inkpot of Bagdad.

Printers are a dedicated bunch. . . . Once a printer, come good or come evil, they never quit.

Their gods are Ben Franklin, Mergenthaler, Hoe, the printed line, the smell of ink and the exasperated cries, "Where's that last take?" and "Make it snappy!"

We can't look at a linotype machine today, after a life in the newspaper business, without feeling the same awe we felt when, as a cub reporter, we saw one for the first time. The thing is human. It lives, breathes, chatters, does feats of magic, keeps a world informed and does it all without pretentiousness or a glittering "front."

Devoid of charm, stripped of beauty, it does one of the most glamorous jobs on earth.

The printing machines and the boys behind them give you the tides, the births, the marriages, orbits, gossip, tragedies, ultimatums, communiques, best sellers, pocket manuals, bargain sales, mail-order catalogue, posters, sporting results, and everything from the disqualification in the fifth race to the latest upset in the French cabinet.

What would you do, bub, without 'em? . . . The smallest press in a side-street window is a greater showroom than all the automobiles in the biggest showroom on Main Street. It makes most machinery minor league. We salute it!

Bachelors, a survey indicates, make the worst auto drivers. Those signs "Soft Shoulders" disturb 'em.

With South Pacific and Grover Whalen closing their long runs, New York doesn't seem the same place.

Swell line in E. B. White's new book: "This book twists and turns. Go carefully; the time you save may be your own."

The schools of drama are now wearing a dazed look. . . . One of the biggest hits in theatrical history, "The Caine Mutiny," hasn't a woman, a love scene, a butler or the maid who opens the play by entering to put roses in the flower vase. There isn't a situation in which anybody asks, "Why am I telling you all this?" or says, "I guess I'm a crazy mixed-up kid." . . . The lines: "Won't you sit down?" "Inspector, I think you have something." "Have a cocktail!" and "Shall we join the ladies?" are missing.

Johnnie Ray's wife probably got that divorce on the ground of intolerable weeping. Who got the custody of the press notices? (Associated Newspapers)

Glass Eye Saves Looks Of Prize-Winning Bull

HALEYVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A one-eyed Hereford bull is headed for the show ring with a movable glass eye that matches his good one.

The successful operation may be the first of its kind on a bull in the United States.

It saved Handsome Larry Domino 50th from a life sentence to pasture, with never a chance of winning a fair blue ribbon.

And it saved a $20,000 loss for Dr. R. F. Blake, who saw his investment in a future champion vanishing when Larry's eye was damaged by a barbed wire fence.

Dr. Blake, a surgeon, enlisted the aid of a widely known ophthalmologist in preparing an artificial eye for Larry.

Students Battle Madrid Police

Thousands Riot, Ask Return of Gibraltar

MADRID (AP)—Police on horseback and on foot today battled thousands of Madrid University students who staged a fiery demonstration demanding the return of British-held Gibraltar to Spain. Ten policemen and five students were injured.

Police fired revolvers in the air and charged with night sticks to break up the wild demonstration in which the students knocked five guardsmen from their mounts. The 15-minute clash took place just 100 yards from the British Embassy, which was damaged in a similar stone-throwing demonstration Jan. 22. Driven back from the embassy today, the students marched on to a nearby British bank and broke several windows with bricks. Then they paraded to the Spanish foreign office, where Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo appeared on a balcony and sang with them the Falange party's anthem. Police estimated there were at least 15,000 students in the mob, who reportedly had been given a half-day holiday to stage the demonstration.

Short Circuit, Cigaret Start Minor Fires Here

Marion city firemen were called out to two small loss fires over the weekend.

At 5:45 p.m. last night Central station firemen were called to put out a fire in an automobile owned by Robert W. Smith of 539 Park Blvd. Parked at the corner of S. Main and E. Church Sts., the car developed a short circuit in electrical wiring under the hood. Firemen estimated the loss at $10.

A carelessly dropped cigaret was blamed for a fire in the former vocational shops at the rear of Eber Baker Junior High School on W. Church St. The cigaret set fire to some tarpaulin covering a pile of bricks to be used in remodeling of the building. The tarpaulin was destroyed with an estimated loss of $20. Central station firemen answered the alarm.

Russians Sign Pact With Mao

'54 Trade Agreement Provides for Increase

LONDON (AP)—The Russians have disclosed the signing of a new 1954 trade pact with the Chinese Communists. Official announcements of the agreement envisage a big step-up in trade, but Western diplomats here believe the Soviet Union actually is having to cut down on vital tool and machinery shipments to her Red ally.

It was agreed Russia would trade metallurgical, mining and power equipment, automobiles, tractors, building machinery, metals, petroleum and chemical products. In exchange, China would export non-ferrous metals, soya beans, rice, nuts, vegetable oils, tobacco, fruits, raw silk, leather and other goods. Russia also will extend China credit, it was announced.

Other candidates are Earl Jenkins of Ashley, former county commissioner, and A. W. Elliott, farm manager and retired educator.

No Democrat has yet announced for the legislative office. Johnny Kilbane held the featherweight title for more than 11 years. He won it Feb. 22, 1912 and lost June 2, 1923.

PRISONERS PUNCH EFFIGIES. Chinese prisoners of war who rejected communism and refused repatriation at Panmunjom, take punches at two effigies with signs on them reading, "Apologize to anti communist heroes." The effigies are supposed to represent Malenkov and Mao Tse Tung. More than 22,000 Chinese and North Korean POWs who rejected repatriation are being turned over to the United Nations by the Indian Command.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.* The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Court Decrees District Must Return Funds

15-County Maumee Conservancy District Still Has $200,000

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Ruling assessments levied in 1951 and 1952 were illegal, Judge James L. McCrystal today ordered the 15-county Maumee Conservancy District to give back the $200,000 still in its treasury.

Judge McCrystal said under a recent Ohio Supreme Court ruling on the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District, assessments levied by the district actually were taxes subject to referendum vote.

He ordered return of the funds to auditors and treasurers of the 15 counties for subsequent return "proportionately" to individual taxpayers.

Karl H. Weaver Jr., counsel for the district, said he will appeal the ruling to the Third District Court of Appeals which sits at Lima.

Judge McCrystal was assigned to the case by Chief Justice Carl Weygant because Defiance County Judge H. B. Muhlenthal is a member of the 15-judge conservancy court. The suit was brought last October by Allen County Prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers.

The judge said he would not rule on whether or not the conservancy district should be dissolved. He said that question will be up to the conservancy court to decide.

Other counties in the district are Auglaize, Fulton, Hancock, Hardin, Henry, Lucas, Mercer, Paulding, Putnam, Shelby, Van Wert, Williams and Wood.

their internal effects were challenged.

Already approved by the State and Justice departments, this substitute needs Eisenhower's personal okay before its introduction, which would signal the end of efforts to compromise with Bricker on the controversial points of his proposal.

If and when the substitute is offered, Republican leaders hope it also will bear the names of some Democrats to give it a bipartisan flavor. However, a Democratic leader who did not want to be quoted by name said he is inclined to let the Republicans fight the issue out among themselves.

The debate, due to get under way tomorrow, is likely to take several weeks.

First Quarter Axle Tax Take Tops $2 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio received an additional $329,032 in axle taxes on trucks since the noon count Friday, boosting the new total of collections for the first quarter to $2,422,241.

State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy announced the new total shortly before 10 a.m. He said considerable mail remained to be processed but indicated tax receipts had slowed considerably since the Jan. 20 payment deadline.

Since last Oct. 1, trucks with more than two axles are required to pay from 1/4 to 2 1/2 cents a mile to operate on Ohio highways. The new tax imposed by the last Legislature was earmarked to build new roads.

Receipts for the first quarter would have to approximate five million dollars to measure up to legislative estimates of the truck tax yield.

Spiritual Victory Crusade Will Close In Marion Tonight

The union service tonight at Epworth Methodist Church will close the Spiritual Victory Crusade sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial Association here. This will be a "service of Christian fellowship" in which the evangelist, Rev. Charles F. Taylor, will tell his life story and show color moving pictures of his native England.

Final preaching service of the crusade was held Sunday night. The sermon by Rev. "Charlie" Taylor was on "Midnight Photography." Rev. Laurie Taylor, pianist, played several numbers including his arrangement of "Mister the Tempest is Raging" which was repeated from a previous performance by special request. Taking part in the service also were Rev. J. Paul Goebel of First Evangelical and Reformed Church who offered prayer, the host pastor, Rev. Walter C. Eyster, and Rev. J. B. Holloway of Trinity Baptist Church, chairman of the ministerial association's evangelism committee. A large number from the audience responded to the altar call of the evangelist at the close of the service.

Rev. Taylor likened the "photography" of God to infra-red light photography in which a picture may be made in a "pitch black" room by a camera which is sensitive to heat rays.

In the day of final judgment, he declared, quoting Scripture, "there shall be nothing hidden that shall not be uncovered." The only salvation for the individual, he continued, is to let Christ "edit" the "film" of your life, cutting away the sins and mistakes to make it an acceptable "picture" to God.

The Taylor Brothers will leave early Tuesday for California.

"shall cease to be a protected, concerted activity within the meaning of this act." Every committee Democrat has indicated unwillingness to adopt any such provision, whether the vote were held before or after a strike starts. And Ives termed it "unworkable" and a "direct swat" at labor leaders.

Favor Vote Before Strike

Senators Purtell (R-Conn.) and Goldwater (R-Ariz.) say they favor holding the strike vote before a strike actually starts, not afterwards. Smith said last night in a CBS radio-television interview he is not "wedded to" either a poststrike or prestrike vote, but is "wedded to" exploring whether the secret ballot is being properly observed in the unions" and if not what could be done legislatively about it. The committee may drop the idea if its hearings develop no need for it, he said.

Democrats Call For Changes in Income Tax Bill

Eisenhower Opponents Want Family Bite Cut, Less in Business Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some House Democrats talked today of a drive to get more tax relief for families and less for stockholders and businesses in any tax revision program enacted this year.

They threatened a floor fight aimed at drastically revising a two-billion-dollar tax reduction and revision plan strongly championed by President Eisenhower and other Republicans.

Seek To Cut Proposals

Several Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said they hope to eliminate sections providing sharp reductions in taxes on stock and bond dividends, and much more rapid tax reductions to business for the cost of new plants and equipment.

These proposals, already approved by the committee, would reduce revenue an estimated $15 million dollars the first year and provide much bigger savings to the taxpayers involved in the second and third years—perhaps three times as much.

Republicans have hailed them as the most important points in a project for rewriting almost all the nation's tax laws. Sponsors say they will encourage investment, business growth, more and better jobs and a higher standard of living for everybody.

Favor Larger Exemptions

But some Democrats argue it would be far preferable to increase personal income tax exemptions, thus reducing taxes more for large families and low-income groups, and shoring up the economy through their increased purchasing power.

Democrats already have proposed to add to the program a $100 increase in each personal exemption.

Now, several Democrats said, they are considering a move on the House floor to knock out the tax revision sections on dividends and business depreciation and replace them with the increase in personal exemptions. Democrats argue that the loss in revenue—2 1/2 billions from the personal exemptions increase—would be almost the same by the third year.

Others Back Idea

Rep. Eberhart (D-Pa.) said today he personally favored this strategy but Democrats probably would not reach a final, party-line decision until the committee completes the revision project. Several other Democratic committee members, asking not to be quoted by name, said they also favored the idea.

Eberhart said Republicans are presenting the revision program to the public as mostly technical changes in tax laws which will benefit everybody.

"Actually, he said, 'the plan appears to be a fundamental change in the tax structure to shift the burden of taxation from corporations and stockholders—those most able to pay—to wage earners and salaried people.'"

Eberhart said after the dividend proposal reaches full effect, a taxpayer with $2,100 in wages would pay $422 in taxes but a man with the same income from dividends would pay only $100 in taxes.

However, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said last night in an NBC television interview, "What helps business helps the people... Things that help business create more tools, more jobs and keep our economy going."

The Ways and Means Committee today went into its eighth working day on the revision project.

Air Reserve Plans New Shelby Training Center

Establishment of an Air Force Reserve Training Center at Wilkins Air Force Depot at Shelby has been announced by Depot officials.

The program is limited to officers qualified in the fields of supply, procurement and production, comptroller and personnel. Individuals who hold Air Force Reserve commissions may apply for mobilization positions.

Officers may be given positions as a mobilization assignee or a mobilization designee depending upon the extent they wish to participate and the vacancies at the time they apply. Department of Defense employees may not be given a mobilization assignment but may participate as a designee. Reservists given mobilization assignments must participate in at least five training periods of two to four hours during each three-month period. Officers will receive a total of 12 days pay for the 20 training periods completed each year and in addition, each assignee will receive full pay and allowances for a required 15-day tour of active duty each year. One point is awarded for each day of the tour.

Designees are required to earn only 15 points a year. Points may be earned by attending training periods, participating in extension courses or being authorized a short tour of active duty.

2,577 Take Part in Week

New Record Established In 'Y' Physical Program

Robert Bush, chairman of the YMCA physical education committee, announced this morning a record participation was reached by the "Y" physical department last week. A total of 2,577 persons filled by the tote basket room for a wide variety of physical activities from Monday morning through Saturday night.

The highest single day total since the opening of the new "Y" in October was reached on Saturday when 722 boys and girls, men and women used the gymnasium and pool facilities.

Attendance in the entire building during the week numbered approximately 8,900.

THE YMCA physical education program consists of classes of girls and boys of elementary, junior high school and high school age, fitness classes for men, gymnastics, diving and swimming instructional classes for women, seven basketball leagues for boys and men including the Open, Industrial, Church, Gra-Y and Junior High Leagues. The "Y" also offers beginning and advanced swimming classes for boys and girls, steam bath and a masseur services for men, competitive swimming, family participation under the family program, specialized groups in badminton, competitive volleyball, gymnastics, and individual exercise in the weight lifting and special exercise rooms.

The new YMCA swimming pool is proving to be an attraction to hundreds of YMCA members. An average of 300 persons a day used the pool last week. Bush, in announcing the record participation figures, said the peak has not as yet been reached.

BUSH ALSO announced today that the Marion YMCA has been selected as the North West District headquarters for the district basketball championships to be played off in preparation for the Ohio West Virginia Sports Festival. The festival is conducted each year on the campus of Ohio State University bringing together district champions in some 14 major and minor sports from all sections of Ohio and West Virginia. Marion will be host association for the state senior and junior church, high school, open and industrial basketball playoffs scheduled in March.

Other state and area activities which the local YMCA will conduct are the organization and administration of the entire Ohio-West Virginia badminton championships on March 13. Both Class A and Class B competition will be conducted here as a part of the festival instead of Columbus. The Marion "Y" has also been selected as the site for a statewide Aquatic Institute to be presented in Marion during the month of May.

Other members of the YMCA physical education committee are Dr. Dan Brickley, Sam Birnbaum, Howard Gilbert, Oliver Bush, Robert Kelly, Jack Bray, Robert Rohr, Mrs. Ann Knirk, Mrs. Lois Morgan, Mrs. G. Winters, Jackson Taft, Nelson Irvin, John Luginbuhl, Robert Mason and Rev. W. C. Eyster.

Mothers' March Night

Polio Campaign Climax Planned Thursday Night

"Light Your Porch Light" will be the watchword throughout Marion County on the night of Jan. 28—date of the Mothers' March on Polio. This dramatic mothers' crusade against polio will climax the 1954 March of Dimes.

On Thursday night from 7 to 8, an army of women volunteers, most of them mothers, will call at thousands of homes where a lighted porch lamp or a light in a front window or a shoe towel or handkerchief tied to the doorknob signifies that the occupant wants to contribute to the March of Dimes.

"THE ALARMING increase in the incidence of polio during the past five years," Mrs. O. H. Gearhiser Jr., city co-chairman pointed out, "has greatly stimulated interest in the Mothers' March."

"Throughout our county," she said, "people realize the gravity of the polio threat to our children and to adults as well. Everywhere they regard the March of Dimes as the most effective agency for spearheading the heroic fight against the dread disease."

"Thanks to the scientific discoveries of the past two years, however, the fight is not just a struggle to provide better care and treatment for polio sufferers."

Two U.S. Bobsled Stars Quit World Title Competition

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Two U. S. bobsled stars today bolted the world championships, bringing into the open a smoldering feud among the American contestants here.

Veteran driver Stanley Benham of Lake Placid, N. Y., and his brakeman, James Bickford of Saranac Lake, N. Y., packed up and left for home just after finishing third in the two-man world title event. They had been selected to drive and brake the U. S. No. 2 sled in the four-man competition later this week.

"We had to go today or we would have been stuck here for more than a week. We couldn't book a flight for the time we wanted it," Benham said.

John (Donna) Fox, manager of the U. S. team, called the departure "an outrage."

He said: "They were chosen to race in the four-man event and they should have done so." Some members of the American delegation said Benham and Bickford left because they had no hope of beating the U. S. No. 1 sled, to be driven by Lloyd Johnson of Rapid City, S. D. Others claimed it was all part of a row between the upstate New York representatives and civilians and soldiers stationed in Germany who recently crashed the sport.

Two crews are being organized by the remaining Americans to compete in eliminations runs to determine a substitute for Benham.

Six Other Accidents

One person received minor injuries in the six other weekend accidents in Marion county and county, police and the state patrol reported this morning.

The other accident investigated by the state patrol occurred south of Marion at the junction of Route 4 and the Barks Rd. at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Involved were cars driven by Arliss Olin Smith, 60, of 210 Glad St. and William W. Baker, 74, of Prospect.

The patrol reported that both cars were heading south and Smith was preparing to turn onto Barks Rd. when Baker struck him from behind. The cars received only minor damage.

Both drivers were cited to appear in Municipal Court tomorrow, Smith on a charge of failing to signal a turn and Baker on charges of passing at an intersection.

Pedestrian Injured

A Marion pedestrian was slightly injured in one of five traffic accidents investigated over the weekend by city police.

Charles C. Custer, 67, of 835 Davids St. required no medical treatment for a cut nose sustained when he was struck by a car driven by Carmen A. Carouso, 34, of 740 Davids St. The mishap occurred at 7:13 p.m. last night on Woodrow Ave. between Davids St. and Bellefontaine Ave. Custer was walking south across Woodrow Ave. and Carouso was driving south on Davids St. making a left turn onto Woodrow Ave.

The other four accidents were "fender benders". At 4:15 p.m. yesterday cars driven by Beulah Parish of near Richmond and W. E. Selanders of LaRue collided on S. Prospect St. south of W. Columbia St.

A taxicab driven by Willard Benson, 28, of 768 1/2 Davids St. and a car driven by Ralph Porterfield, 50, of Mt. Gilead were involved in a mishap at W. Center and Orchard Sts. at 5:13 p.m. Saturday.

Northwestern Studying Top Traffic Problems

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—Northwestern University has established a national Transportation Center featuring a program aimed at the solution of major problems in the nation's transportation industry.

The center, a joint undertaking of the university's school of commerce, technological institute and to traffic institute, will carry on a program of research, undergraduate training and graduate study of problems in the highway, rail, air, pipeline and water divisions of transportation.

The center was established because, in the words of the university's president, J. Roscoe Miller, "transportation has become increasingly complex and has created many unsolved problems—economic, technical and social."

Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion, had 42 amateur fights and won them all.

Use of Radar Speed Testing Device Planned

Marion motorists may expect a stricter watch on speeding violations within the city limits in the near future.

Police Chief Thomas B. Coon declared today his intention to make use of the city's radar device for clocking automobile speeds. The electronic "eye" will be used just as soon as it can be installed on the new police cruisers. The city has had the device for several years but hasn't put it to use.

Chief Coon stated that certain personnel adjustments will be necessary, because of the need to have three men to operate the radar set, but this problem is expected to be ironed out shortly.

The radar apparatus detects speeding violations by means of an electronic beam flashed across the road in the path of the automobile. Chief Coon reported his department has tested the radar and found it absolutely foolproof.

State regulations require warning signs to be posted of the use of radar and the location of the police car at least 750 feet from the sign.

loan and put its buses back on the streets within thirty days. I don't see how we can cancel the franchise," Mayor Robinson said.

Town Tamer, president of Local 222, JWA, said today that there have been no new developments from the driver's side of the dispute other than he has called a meeting of all drivers for this afternoon.

The walkout began about 2:30 p.m. Friday after some of the bus drivers said they were unable to cash pay checks issued them Friday morning at any of the banks in the city.

Tanner reported the drivers wanted to walk out in the morning but continued working pending a meeting called by Mayor Robinson for 1 p.m. Friday in an attempt to avert the work stoppage.

No method was found at this meeting to make good the checks and Tanner ordered the drivers to pull their buses off the streets during a shift change at 2:30 p.m.

Mayor Robinson reported today he had heard that some of the drivers "five or six" wanted to go back to work.

Marion employees and students seemed to be taking the bus strike in stride, as most personnel managers and school administrators checked this morning reported no unusual trend in absences or tardiness.

Most people who usually depend on bus transportation seemed to have made other arrangements for getting to the schools and places of employment.

Filling the gap in public transportation left by the walkout, Marion taxicab firms today reported addition of additional equipment to help meet the need for some form of public transportation.

Marion Radio Red Cab Co. noticed a "marked increase" Friday and Saturday, but drivers today thought the situation had returned to normal. Most people by today had arranged rides with friends and neighbors, a company spokesman said. The company was operating with its regular force of 11 cabs.

Safety Cab Co. has added three extra cars since Friday to its normal crew of 17 cabs, and hopes to add five more if the demand still exists.

Yellow Cab Co. added "a couple" cabs to its normal crew of seven.

such a program "admittedly will create unemployment and adversely affect business in this country." He said the only remedies offered by the commission were sympathy or government subsidies but they "are no substitute for jobs."

The commission recommended a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act, which allows the President to lower tariffs in return for trade concessions from other countries. But under the present law tariffs cannot be lowered below 50 per cent of the rate in 1945. The commission proposal was to lift this restriction.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), senior Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, said in an interview yesterday that while the commission report is too comprehensive to be acted upon in its entirety, he hopes Congress will accept the recommendation for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act. Shorter extensions, he said, "keep everything unsettled."

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), a high-ranking member of the Ways and Means Committee and "advocate of higher tariffs on some items, joined Reed in a dissent, saying the industry protests as to the effects of "so-called 'trade liberalization' upon the economy and the defense base of this country have largely been ignored" by the commission.

Sen. Burke's First Senate Ballot Opposes Bricker's

WASHINGTON (U)—In Sen. Burke's opinion, it will cost "less than $100,000" to finance his senatorial campaign.

"In my case," he told a reporter the other day, "that will have to be enough."

This assumes, the Ohio Democrat points out, he will be nominated to run next fall for the two years remaining in the term of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Burke returned to Cleveland this week, the day after casting his first vote in the Senate, in favor of the St. Lawrence Seaway proposal. Thus, he already has disagreed in a record vote with his Republican colleague, Sen. Bricker, who voted "nay."

In Cleveland this weekend, Burke says he hopes to get some of his campaign work started, including the important business of lining up supporters.

Then he will bring his wife back to Washington. She has been recovering from an operation in a Cleveland hospital during the last two weeks.

Trapped Woman Frees Herself From Furnace

FLINT, Mich. (U)—"I had just given up to die but God got me out."

Mrs. Marie Wilson, 51, housewife, had put her head in her coal-burning furnace in trying to retrieve a baffle plate (gas deflector) which had fallen from the back of the furnace interior.

A second plate fell on her head. Her head was pinned down. It must have been 40 minutes before she freed herself, she said later.

After treatment for face and arms burns and a bruise on her head, Mrs. Wilson went home from Hurley Hospital.

Woman Weds Man Who Assisted Her To Obtain Freedom

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U)—Mrs. Emma Jo Johnson has married the man who helped her win freedom from a prison term for a murder never committed.

She and Jack Wengert, 40, Las Vegas chef, were married yesterday in the home of a private detective, Glenn Bodell, who uncovered much of the evidence which freed her. She was divorced Saturday from Russell Johnson.

Mrs. Wengert, 35, was convicted in 1951 of second degree murder in the death here of her former landlady, Mrs. Jane Jones, 72. She was sentenced to 10 to 12 years but medical evidence was turned up showing that Mrs. Jones was suffering from an incurable brain tumor and would have died of it even if she and Mrs. Wengert had not gotten into a fight.

Mrs. Wengert was freed by the Nevada Board of Pardons and Paroles last Wednesday, after serving two years and nine months.

COLD WEATHER CAN BE HURTING YOUR ENGINE!

Water gets into your oil. In winter, starting your engine cold can throw as much as a tablespoon of water into your motor oil! It comes from water vapor, formed by burning gasoline, which condenses on your cold engine walls. Your oil takes two or three times as long to warm up as your radiator water. So, even after a 10 or 15 mile trip—long after your water temperature gauge says "warm"—your oil may still not be warm enough to expel the moisture. It remains in the oil to form harmful sludge.

Gasoline gets into your oil. Because of extra choking during cold weather, unburned gasoline drips into your motor oil, thinning it out. Contaminated by sludge and gasoline, your oil becomes unfit for duty much sooner in winter than it does in summer. Unchecked, this cold-weather contamination can lead to worn engine parts, clogged piston rings, and stopped-up oil lines and screens. But there's an answer to the problem of winter-contaminated motor oil!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT—

① Do as your auto maker advises: DRAIN OIL MORE OFTEN IN WINTER

Owners' operating manuals from virtually every car manufacturer recommend how to keep your engine protected during cold weather. They say, "Drain oil more often in winter." Draining oil more often during cold weather is a low-cost way to protect the expensive investment you have in your car.

② To keep your engine cleaner between drains—USE HQD MOTOR OIL

Since Sohio HQD motor oil contains a triple-strength detergent, it cleans as it lubricates. Like all oil, HQD should be drained more often in winter, but it keeps your engine cleaner between drains. HQD removes sludge and other dirt from vital engine parts, and holds it in suspension so it drains out at oil-drain time.

Let HQD help you lick the problem of cold-weather contamination in your engine.

Truck Tax Reciprocity Discussed by Governors

ATLANTA (AP) — The Executive Committee of the National Governors' Conference met today to set plans for the next conference session, but truck tax reciprocity was expected to receive the most attention.

Frank Bane, conference secretary, said the group would name a site, time and program for the next meeting. He declined to say what cities are being considered for the conference.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, an early arrival, said he hoped to acquaint the committee members and representatives of some other states with his state's new levy and thereby to end opposition that has resulted in retaliatory measures.

He described the reciprocity arguments as a "jumbled-up affair" and said if the retaliatory measures are successful "it will be a death blow to efforts to stop the exploitation of small car owners."

Lausche said a resolution "supported by all governors" was adopted at the 1951 governors conference recommending imposition of a weight-distance tax as "the only one that justly and equitably imposed the cost of building roads on motorists."

Ohio's law, adopted by the 100th General Assembly last year, went into effect Oct. 1, 1953. It sets up a tax on trucks ranging from 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents per mile depending on the number of axles on the truck. Receipts were earmarked for new highway construction.

Lausche said the Ohio axle-mile tax corresponds in principle to a weight-distance tax as a means of achieving a solution for equitable distribution of road costs for little cars and taxpayers.

As for reciprocity, Lausche said "exemptions from payment of that tax to out-of-state truckers would be imposing a penalty on truckers within the state."

He said he hoped to convince those meeting here "that while exemption of payment of license fees, gas taxes and drivers licenses would be sound, the principle would not apply to weight-distance taxes."

The retaliatory measure to which Lausche referred included threatened cancellation of reciprocity agreements, a new truck tax levied by Georgia, threatened strike, and a court action.

Since Ohio has refused to recognize reciprocity agreements in connection with its new tax, the 10-state reciprocity committee, representing Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia, has threatened to end all truck reciprocity March 1. The cancellation is automatic if Ohio makes no move toward extending the agreements.

Georgia's new $10 per round trip levy was aimed at Ohio truckers. It applies only to trucks from states which do not have a reciprocity agreement with this state. AFL truck drivers of 13 central states authorized the strike if truck operators refuse to pay the axle-mile tax. The owner-drivers

MAY LOSE PILOT'S LICENSE. Suspension of Arthur Godfrey's airplane pilot's license was recommended by the Civil Aeronautics Administration in New York. The recommendation went to the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington for action to suspend the television star's license for any period the CAB "may deem necessary." Godfrey's private plane was involved in a near miss of the control tower at Teterboro, N. J., airport in a takeoff Jan. 7. Godfrey is shown in a jet training plane on May 20, 1950, in Washington.

content the fee should be paid by firms which lease the trucks. The court action, filed by attorneys representing 35 trucking companies in six states, is for a hearing on a request for a permanent restraining order to prohibit Ohio from collecting the tax. They contend the law is unconstitutional.

Divisions Due For Return to U.S. Identified

SEOUL (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, today identified the two American divisions to be withdrawn from Korea as the 40th and 45th.

He said the 45th Division, the former Oklahoma National Guard, will return to the United States between Feb. 15 and March 15, and the 40th, former California National Guard, considerably later.

The withdrawals were announced recently by President Eisenhower, but this was the first official information on the units affected.

Both divisions have been in Korea about three years.

Taylor's announcement said the only soldiers to be transferred with the outfits back to the United States are those entitled to rotation home on points. Men not yet eligible will be transferred to other divisions.

General Offers Aid To Cpl. Dickinson

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, retired, commander of the adjutant general's school, Ft. Washington, Md., has offered to defend Edward S. Dickinson, former Korean War prisoner.

Dickinson, 23, refused repatriation in Korea but later decided to return. The Army accused him of seeking favor with the enemy to the detriment of his fellow prisoners.

Gen. Holdridge said he had sent a telegram to Dickinson's parents that he believes the former corporal could not receive a fair trial in the present climate of emotionalism and vindictiveness.

Wild Turkey Specialist

Remains Silent on Sales

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (UP)—Ernest N. Latham of Julian, Pa., raises wild turkeys—and never reveals a sale.

Latham raised about 500 wild turkeys in 1953—mainly for sportsmen's clubs which liberate them on their own grounds.

But he also sells them discreetly to hunters who want to make sure of a kill. Most such hunters stake their purchase and shoot it. One let the fresh blood stain his new hunting jacket as though he's carried the bird over his shoulder.

But if anybody asks Latham if he sold a certain hunter a turkey he says:

"I don't recall any such incident. If a man buys a wild turkey from me, that's his business."

Schultz Leads Barons to 7-4 Win Against Louisville

4,467 Fans Witness Game For New Attendance Mark

Kenny Schultz led the Marion Barons to their fifth straight win Sunday before the largest crowd ever to watch an athletic event at the Coliseum.

A total of 4,467 paid fans watched Schultz hammer in three goals for his third hat trick in the last three Barons games. His three scores were the margin of a 7-4 win over Louisville's Shooting Stars.

The hat trick tied Schultz with Marion's Gordon Vejprava for the International Hockey League lead in hat tricks at four.

A standing room only crowd watched the game with many fans turned away after the sellout. The crowd was boosted by 1,500 fans from the Columbus Foremen's Club and another large group from Milford Center. Fans streamed into the Coliseum throughout the first period before the arena was packed.

Additional temporary seats were placed at the south end of the rink and jockey club officials were forced to seat several visitors in the space available in the press box.

The capacity crowd was treated to a game highlighted by rugged body checks and lightning like scoring thrusts by both teams. The Barons broke the game open in the second period after being tied at 1-1 after the opening stanza.

Marion spurred into the lead after 12:15 of play when Wimpy Jones belted a score past Goalie A. Bennett after taking a pass from Vejprava. Dutch Delmonte also assisted on the score.

The visiting Stars came storming back to wrest the lead from the Barons. Ray Marshall, the Stars' coach, scored the first after a combination pass from John Sherban and Rolly Durancieu.

The goal came at the 13:16 mark. Frank Toyota pushed the visitors ahead at 14:43 with an assist going to Phil Dagleish. With 52 seconds remaining in the period, Murray Wilkie, put the Barons back into the game. He scored with assists credited to Joe Ingoldsbey and Tony Poeta.

It was the first of four assists for Poeta during the game. Vejprava put the Marion club ahead for keeps when he scored an unassisted goal after 4:01 of the second period. Hal Jones then pumped in a score after 9:15 had passed. Poeta and Schultz assisted.

Ed Calhoun broke the Barons' grip less than a minute later. His shot got by Lou Crowdis when the Marion goalie's view was blocked. Phil Vitale slipped and fell into the net as Crowdis was jockeying to bat the shot away. The score came after 9:57 had passed and was unassisted.

Schultz battled in two of his goals during the same stint of action in that second period. He scored first after 15:19 with Hal Jones and Poeta helping in the score and the second was notched after 17:01 with the same two assisting.

Marion's scoring ace completed his hat trick bid after only 2:09 of the final period. Hal Jones took a pass from Ted Lebioda at center ice and passed off to Schultz just in front of the net. Bennett had no chance of blocking the shot.

Louisville's Doug Houston, a newcomer to the Star's lineup, closed the scoring with a minute and 58 seconds left in the game. Jerry McCabe picked up a Marion pass at center ice and carried to Houston directly in front of Crowdis.

The crowd also was treated to a skating exhibition by Miss Anne Gillies, skating instructor at the Coliseum rink. She appeared just before the start of the game.

The Barons' next action at home will be Wednesday night when they meet the Grand Rapids Rockets in a polo benefit. Proceeds from the game will go to the March of Dimes to aid in the fight against polio.

Coupons, to be applied toward the price of regular tickets are on sale at Henny & Cooper, the National City Bank and individuals around the city.

Rowdyism Forces End Of Athletic Relationship

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rhodes High School, charging rowdyism and vandalism, has severed athletic relations with Elyria High School.

William C. Scott, Rhodes athletic director, said yesterday a gang of about 50 boys snowballed and broke windows in the school's bus following Rhodes' 47-44 basketball victory over Elyria two weeks ago.

One member of the gang wrestled a jacket from a Rhodes player and another reached in an open window and struck a player in the face, Scott said.

Scott said Foster Elliott, Elyria athletic director, had promised to try and find the guilty persons.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Bevo Francis had just tallied 49 points, Rio Grande College had edged Creighton University and Coach Newt Oliver was relaxing in the dressing room at the Troy Arena.

Oliver, former Upper Sandusky High School mentor, had worked up a sweat during a nip and tuck battle with the lanky foes. He had spent most of the second half pacing the sideline and had removed his coat despite the fact his bench was laced over the ice of the Troy arena.

But with his charges showering and the win tucked away, Newt was a different person. He was answering questions of newsmen and well wishers and was apparently enjoying himself.

OLIVER DEBUNKED the theory his Rio team is a one-man group. "We've got a bunch of kids that no other schools wanted. They came to Rio Grande and have made themselves into a ball team," he said. He went on to say that while Francis handles the scoring job, other members of the squad also are able to hit from any place on the floor and prevent the other team from concentrating on Bevo.

Subby Salerno, Creighton coach, apparently had other ideas. He went into the game determined to stop Francis. For the first half, Bevo kept Rio in the game despite a riding by the Creighton ace, 6-5 Elton Tuttle. Tuttle drew four fouls in his fruitless efforts and was shifted away from Francis in the second half. However four others, Bob Meyer, Bob Komassinski, Frank Gollon and Pat Thornton, were ejected.

During the last period, Salerno decided to stop Francis from the field and gave his charges those orders. They held the fabulous Francis to only two field goals but he dumped in 13 from the foul line.

WHILE FRANCIS had managed to pull in his share of rebounds during the first three periods, he really stood out during the last three minutes of the game. With time running out and the Creighton squad threatening to pull away, Bevo took over. With the opposition leading 89-88, Francis pulled in three quick rebounds which were converted into field goals by the Rio squad. Those three goals, two by Ashland's Dick Barr, clinched the verdict for Oliver's team.

The Saturday night game drew a packed house to the Hobart Arena and the more than 7,000 fans left the arena convinced Bevo was something more than a basketball freak. His remarkable shooting from the corner and around the foul circle and his rebounding had drawn raves from the crowd.

Oliver concluded his dressing room visit with the remark his team won mostly on spirit. Bevo, at 6-9 is the tallest man on the team. The others stand around 6-3 and 6-1 but they make up for their lack of height with their will to win, Newt says.

Willie Mosconi has won 11 world pocket billiard titles since winning his first in 1941.

Trautman Hits Cards' Plan in TV Experiment

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' plan to test the effect major league broadcasts have on minor league attendance ran into opposition from the commissioner of minor league baseball.

Under the experiment broadcasts of Cardinal games this season will be beamed into Houston, Omaha and Columbus, Ohio—cities where the Cards own minor league clubs.

Commissioner George M. Trautman, after the plan was announced Saturday night, termed the experiment "not in the best interests of baseball." Trautman, who plans to confer with baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in New York this week, said he would fight the plan.

But the Cardinals' owners contend they are serving all baseball in making the test.

"The effect of major league broadcasts in minor league territory has been the subject of dispute for some time," said Vice President William Walsingham. "The Cardinals, to determine the effect, have chosen towns in which they own the franchises so that if the effect is adverse it will hurt only the Cardinals."

"I believe," Walsingham said, "the Cardinals are serving all baseball in making this test."

All three of the "guinea pig" cities are in the upper division of minor league classifications—Co-

Ladies Commercial League winners were led by V. Avery's 193 and M. Carpenter's 479. The former hit a 487 series. Mel's Jewelers with 781-2182 topped the teams.

Commissioner George M. Trautman, after the plan was announced Saturday night, termed the experiment "not in the best interests of baseball." Trautman, who plans to confer with baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in New York this week, said he would fight the plan.

But the Cardinals' owners contend they are serving all baseball in making the test.

"The effect of major league broadcasts in minor league territory has been the subject of dispute for some time," said Vice President William Walsingham. "The Cardinals, to determine the effect, have chosen towns in which they own the franchises so that if the effect is adverse it will hurt only the Cardinals."

"I believe," Walsingham said, "the Cardinals are serving all baseball in making this test."

Krause Denies Irish To Play In Sugar Bowl

ATLANTA (AP)—A report that Notre Dame was "leaning toward acceptance" of a bid to become a 5-to-10-year contract to appear in New Orleans each Jan. 1. He quoted a source considered constantly reliable by the Constitution as saying Notre Dame was leaning toward acceptance.

"There is absolutely nothing to it," declared Ed Krause, Notre Dame athletic director.

Similar comment came from the Sugar Bowl's Executive Committee in New Orleans. One member called the report "a ridiculous rumor."

Rawls Cops Tampa Open, Jinx Misses

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Betsy Rawls won the Tampa Women's Open Golf Championship, but the jinx which had always pursued her on the tricky Palma Ceia course almost caught her again.

Never better than sixth in his tournament before, Miss Rawls started off in front with an even par 75 for the first 18, and stayed ahead all the way. Her 72-hole total of 311 gave her $1,200 of the $5,000 prize money.

On yesterday's final round the jinx really bit her. The little Spartanburg, S. C., shoemaker took 83, eight over par.

But her closest rivals, such veterans as the 1953 champion, Louise Suggs of Cincinnati, and the two Tampans, Babe Zaharias and Betty Dodd, were having their own troubles and couldn't take advantage of her lapse.

Al Rosen Predicts Yankee Pitching Strength Will Fold

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Rosen, who slugged his way to the American League's Most Valuable Player award last year, today decided his Cleveland Indians could beat out the New York Yankees for the pennant this year.

But he left himself an opening—a big "if."

"A deal for an outfielder might do it," he declared. He admitted that the present Indian outfield of Dale Mitchell, Larry Doby and Wally Westlake would not be enough to edge out the Yankees.

"I'm also reckoning Yankee pitchers' age," he said. "Their five straight championships stemmed mainly from Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat. And I'm not forgetting Whitey Ford, who made a very big difference last year."

"Yet, I maintain that when and if Reynolds, Raschi and Ford (all in their mid-30s) fold—look out. All the other clubs in the league know about Reynolds' bad back and Raschi's sore knee."

Kentucky All-American Injured in Court Action

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—All-American Cliff Hagan will be lost to the Kentucky basketball team for a week or 10 days, according to Coach Adolph Rupp.

Hagan, the team's leading scorer with an average of 24 points per game, crashed to the floor while driving for a basket against Tennessee at Knoxville Saturday night.

Swelling has developed in his right thigh and a knee joint has stiffened, Rupp said.

"Even if Lopat is as good as he was last year, the Yanks could not very well make it without Reynolds and Raschi."

Rosen said he thinks the Indians' staff of Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn (not much younger than the Yanks' big three) is the strongest one-two-three mound staff in the majors and man-to-man will outlast Casey Stengel's operatives.

Whitfield Sets Sights on Two Indoor Marks

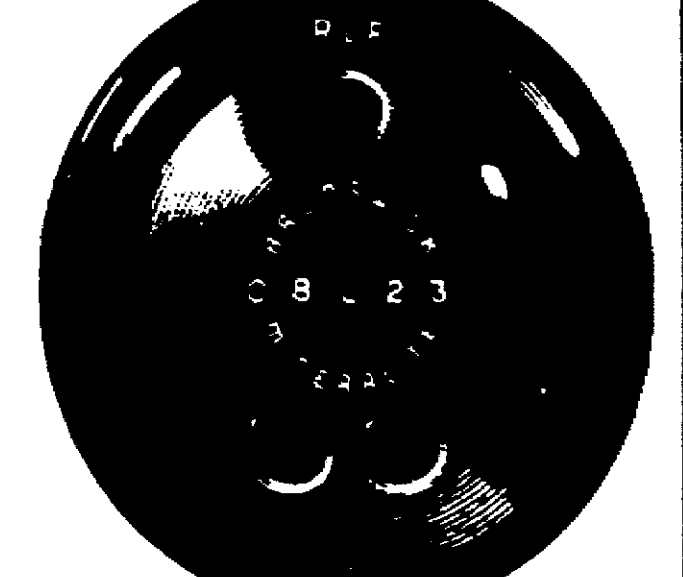

BOSTON (AP)—Amazing Mal Whitfield is going to try for an unusual double victory in the 600 yard and 1,000 yard races of the Boston A. A. track meet Saturday night, the meet sponsors said today.

The Ohio State graduate from Los Angeles—twice Olympic champion in the 80 meters—said he'll aim for a world record in the 600. His target is a clocking of 1:09.3—two-tenths of a second faster than his own world indoor record set last year.

"Give me an hour between races," he added, "and I think I can come back with 2:10 for 1,000 yards." That would be a second under the meet and Boston Garden record.

Whitfield said he's in "the finest condition of my career." He was while driving for a basket against Tennessee at Knoxville Saturday night.

Swelling has developed in his right thigh and a knee joint has stiffened, Rupp said.

Rowdyism Forces End Of Athletic Relationship

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rhodes High School, charging rowdyism and vandalism, has severed athletic relations with Elyria High School.

William C. Scott, Rhodes athletic director, said yesterday a gang of about 50 boys snowballed and broke windows in the school's bus following Rhodes' 47-44 basketball victory over Elyria two weeks ago.

One member of the gang wrestled a jacket from a Rhodes player and another reached in an open window and struck a player in the face, Scott said.

Scott said Foster Elliott, Elyria athletic director, had promised to try and find the guilty persons.

The News From Washington, Ill.

My spy in Washington, Ill., has just bustled in, brimming with information about the 35-foot, 5-ton space ship which has just been awarded to a 10-year-old boy.

First question I asked my Washington spy: how did Mr. and Mrs. Walker react to the sudden acquisition of a 35-foot, 5-ton space ship, well, said my man, the elder Ricky Walker, were not exactly overwhelmed with joy. They've got a small backyard and they don't want it cluttered up with 35-foot, 5-ton space ships.

"WELL," I ASKED, "how did

NOW BRIGHTER, CLEARER!
(new tower, greater power)

Washington, Ill., (pop. 4,285) take it? Calmly?"

"Washington, Ill.," said my man, "went out of its mind. Biggest thing that ever happened in Washington, Ill. The mayor proclaimed it Ricky Walker day. Schools closed. Banks closed. Everything closed. Saturday was proclaimed another Ricky Walker Day but on this one everything was open. Local merchants had 'out of this world' bargain sales to cash in on the space ship publicity."

"How about Ricky? This won't wreck his life or anything? Won't make him get out of step with the other 10-year-olds?"

"No, Level-headed boy, Ricky. Of course, he's pretty happy. He's got more pictures taken of him than he ever will have again for the rest of his life. News services, newspaper, Life, newsreels. The newsreels were for NBC's program 'Today.' I wonder if the 'Today' people realize that 'Space Patrol' is an ABC program?"

THE SPACE SHIP. I ought to explain, is strictly earthbound and is really just an odd-shaped trailer. It is 12 feet high, 8 feet wide and is pulled by a 3-ton tractor-truck which is part of the gift.

The interior is a clubhouse with a circular table and benches, eight folding cots with sleeping bags, a kitchen compartment and food locker. It was built by a Los Angeles carriage company and cost $30,000, which is quite a load of dough for a 10-year-old boy's toy.

"What in tarnation does Ricky plan to do with the thing?" I asked.

"He wants his dad to drive the family to Cleveland in it to visit his grandparents. His father is a truck driver for a refrigerating company so he should be able to manage it. Eventually, Ricky wants to make it a Boy Scout clubhouse. He's not a Scout yet but he plans to be one in a couple of years.

Right now he's busy showing the residents of Washington, Ill., through his space ship. Plans to show all 4,285 through it personally.

AND THAT, "said my spy, stuffing his notes back in his briefcase, "winds up the space ship news from Washington, Ill. Hot rockets to you."

"Hot rockets to you, too," I said dreamily. "I was wondering what you was like to be a 10-year-old boy who had suddenly acquired a $30,000 space ship. When I was 10, I was incessantly selling subscriptions to Boy's Life in the hope of being awarded a pony. I never got the pony and I never knew anyone who did get one. I got pretty bitter about it, figuring there weren't any ponies and the whole thing was a trick.

But now, along comes Ricky and his 35-foot, 5-ton space ship to prove that such wonders can happen to a 10-year-old boy. It restores a man's faith.

Come to think of it, I don't know what I would have done with a pony if I'd won one.

State Censorship Division Releases Controversial Film

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state division of film censorship today formally released for showing in Ohio the controversial Italian movie "M."

The U. S. Supreme Court last week ruled Ohio improperly censoring the movie on grounds it incited to crime and had brutal scenes.

Since then there have been announcements that the movie will be shown in Columbus.

Today members of the censorship division looked at the film for a fifth time merely to confirm it was the same film involved in the Supreme Court case, Columbia Pictures Corp., which submitted the film for review this time, asked for 10 leaders, strips of film showing the movie had passed censorship.

That would enable the film to be shown in 10 theaters at the same time.

Liberated Chinese POW's Talk Like Chiang Followers

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Many Chinese war prisoners who arrived today from Korea talked like dyed-in-the-wool Nationalists in explaining why they had chosen Formosa instead of Red China for a homeland.

"The Communist bandits sold out our country to the Soviet Russians," said Kwang Shao Wen, 29, of Hunan province, who was captured in 1951. "I loathe those bandits and their Russian masters. I want to join the army here to help wipe out the Communist bandits."

Lin Kuo Hsin, 23, of Szechwan, captured by the Allies in 1951, was the first of the 4,600 ex-prisoners to debark. He said, "When the Communist explainers asked me why I preferred to go to Formosa, I said, 'I want to join the Nationalist Army and wipe out all the bandits on the mainland.'"

Delay Expected In Appeal on Bricker's Bill

President To Attempt Compromise Before Ballot on Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted today President Eisenhower will delay any appeal to the people on the hotly fought issue of limiting treaty-making powers, pending last minute efforts to reach a compromise with Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio).

Bricker is author of a proposed constitutional amendment which the President opposes on the ground it would seriously limit the conduct of foreign policy and unduly restrict traditional executive prerogatives in that field.

Hopes to Avoid Fight

The Ohioan, after sending all senators a letter challenging the President's interpretation of his proposal, told the Senate yesterday he hopes Eisenhower is not going to make the controversy "a personal fight."

The Senate is scheduled to take up the proposal early next week, but the debate in effect already has begun.

However, Knowland said in an interview efforts to hammer out a compromise both the administration and Bricker would accept—fruitless so far—would continue during the weekend.

Knowland replying on the Senate floor to Bricker, said the President still has "an open mind."

"He has taken no arbitrary stand," Knowland said.

"I hope that is true," said Bricker.

Lawyers Disagree

The Bricker amendment's avowed purpose is to prevent treaties from depriving U. S. citizens of rights guaranteed by the Constitution and to give Congress more control over the less formal agreements into which a President might enter. Constitutional lawyers disagree widely on its necessity and probable effect.

Perhaps the most controversial clause would write into the Constitution a provision that "A treaty shall become effective as internal law . . . only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of a treaty."

Because under the U. S. federal system some whole areas of legislation are reserved to states, opponents argue this clause would in some cases make treaties' effectiveness depend on action by all 48 state legislatures. Eisenhower has said this aspect might make it almost impossible for him to deal with foreign countries if the amendment were adopted.

Bricker's Interpretation

Bricker told the Senate yesterday that opponents of his proposal had engaged in "direct misrepresentation" of the effect of the amendment.

The Ohio senator said that his resolution "would not require any treaty on any subject to be ratified by any state at any time" and "would not give any state a veto power over the conduct of the nation's foreign affairs."

Bricker said that Eisenhower had given "wide circulation" to erroneous charges that the Bricker amendment would "turn back the clock to the old Articles of Confederation," the loose compact between the states that preceded the Constitution.

Eisenhower had said in a news conference he would not object to a statement that a treaty contravening the Constitution is void, but would not agree to reverting to the general system of the Articles of Confederation.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) the 1952 vice presidential nominee, contended that Bricker's letter included "statements contrary to what I understand."

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told his colleagues approval of the Bricker proposal by Congress would be "one of the most dangerous acts of our generation."

Wiley said he feared the Senate, in a moment of hysteria, might upset "the delicate balance of power that our founding fathers created in this Constitution." He added that existing constitutional safeguards will prevent approval of treaties that abrogate constitutional rights.

HINDU DEVOTION. A Hindu holy man, head buried in sand, is attraction for pilgrims gathered at Allahabad, India, for the month-long bathing ceremonies sacred to all orthodox Hindus, which began Jan. 14. At the end of each hour the holy man, a Naga of the Himalayas, withdraws his head from the sand to relax and to collect the coins which some of the pilgrims place near his buried head. The Nagas are regarded by Hindus as having attained human perfection by discarding all earthly desires and possessions, including clothes.

Couple Who 'Gave Away' Son Want Badly To Get Him Back

CLEVELAND (AP)—They "gave away" their year-old son to some people "with a long foreign name," but now—a year later—the young couple wants the boy back and doesn't know where to look.

The despondent father, 28-year-old Wesley Herman, turned to the police yesterday and told Vatro J. Grill, first assistant police prosecutor:

"I want my boy back—I'll do anything."
Grill quoted Herman as saying: "It started about 18 months ago when I went on a binge—I was sick."

Separated from Margaret, his 28-year-old wife, and their two sons Terry and Wesley Jr., 3, Herman went to the workhouse and later to a hospital, Grill said.

Last August he went back to Margaret, and found that during the separation she decided she could keep only one of the little boys on her salary as a waitress, Herman said.

Velde Bill Hits At Unions Led By Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Velde (R-Ill.) says his House Un-American Activities Committee considers "the failure of certain trade unions to rid themselves of Communists to be a national disgrace."

Therefore, Velde announced last night he will introduce Monday a bill to deny any Red-dominated union the services of the National Labor Relations Board.

Velde's bill would give the Subversive Activities Control Board the task of determining whether a union is Communist-controlled.

The board was set up under the McCarran Internal Security Act to decide when an organization is a "Communist action" or "Communist front" group and then to order such an organization to register its membership, officers and financial reports with the Justice Department.

Velde said approval of his bill would make possible elimination of the non-Communist oath required of union officials under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

When President Eisenhower sent his labor proposals to Congress Jan. 11, he noted that "specific proposals for legislation dealing with Communist infiltration generally are now under study."

If such legislation becomes law, he added, it would make "the Communist disclaimer provisions of the act unnecessary" and "I then will recommend that they be entirely eliminated."

Meanwhile, Eisenhower proposed that employers, too, be required to file non-Communist affidavits with the government.

RE-APPOINTED TO BOARD
BUCYRUS — City Council President Robert E. Caldwell announced here today the reappointment of Councilmen Clinton W. Ackerman and Joseph Kaupp to the police pension board. Ackerman is a Republican councilman-at-large and Kaupp, a Democrat, has represented the First Ward for many years.
